

DATA SCIENCE EXPERTS GROUP

A better world through data science

The Data Science Experts Group is an association of data professionals that build flexible, customized solutions for data-driven companies and organizations. We use off-the-shelf products, open source components and in-house applications to provide powerful and economical systems and services that will work for you.

DSEG associates have extensive expertise and experience in diverse areas of data science and data systems. We work together on system- and enterprise-level projects. We can also be hired separately when targeted skill sets are required to contribute to existing data science projects or teams.
